Southern's New President

Donald Darnton brings broad background to growing college

Dr. Donald Darnton, Interim President of Mansfield College in Mansfield, Pennsylvania, became the new president of Missouri Southern State College in April of 1979. Board of Regents President, Jerry Wells, made the announcement to a meeting of all faculty, administration and support staff, after which Dr. Darnton addressed the group.

The naming of Dr. Darnton as president ended a four and a half month search which began in December, 1978 following the death of Dr. Leon C. Billingsly. An eleven-member screening committee consisting of representatives from college faculty, staff, administration, students, Board of Regents, alumni and community reviewed 237 applications from all over the United States. Ten candidates were brought to the campus for interviews with the committee who then recommended four candidates to the Regents to make the final selection.

Dr. Darnton assumed the interim presidency of Mansfield in 1977, agreeing at that time under state policy not to seek the permanent presidency of the college. He had previously served as Vice-President for Academic Affairs from 1973 to 1976 when he assumed the position of acting president.

He served as associate professor of economics and director of special academic programs at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University prior to coming to Mansfield.

He holds both the doctor of philosophy degree and the master of arts degree in economics from University of Michigan, and the bachelor of arts in economics from College of William and Mary.

During his tenure at Mansfield State College, new degree programs had been approved in business administration, computer information sciences, studio art, community psychology, associate degrees in allied health in cooperation with Robert Packer Hospital, and a joint physics-engineering degree with Penn State. For high school students the college has initiated a speech and theatre spring workshop, a mathematics contest, and a National Honor Society College Day. The number of people participating in continuing education classes has increased from less than 100 to more than 2,000.

In his remarks to the campus personnel, Dr. Darnton said, "You are the future of the college more than I. My role is to give leadership, but what this college becomes will be the summation of the contributions of each of you."

Commenting on his philosophy of education, he stated, "I would hope that MSSC can be widely recognized as a place where students can get a good education; where faculty are concerned about students; where students are seen as individuals, not as computer numbers. Faculty should define course and program goals; set high standards for achievements; and teach with expertise and enthusiasm."

Referring to the many contacts he had with the college during the screening process he said, "I saw reflected the high calibre of people who comprise Missouri Southern and the quality of the College. It made me want to join you and I am grateful that I am able to do so. It's with enthusiasm that I look forward to this challenge, to working with and getting to know you as a part of Missouri Southern State College, and to making the college the envy of our sister institutions throughout the state."

"A good college education recognizes that academics is the number one priority, but is also aware that college is more than the classroom."

"Our society had witnessed great changes in the aspirations for higher education. Many students come to college today who, only a decade ago, would not have considered college an option available to them. Expectations have risen more rapidly than has the preparation of these students, as measured in terms of traditional criteria. Public institutions of higher education have an obligation to serve the needs of these newer students. I lean more toward open admissions than toward restrictive screening that admits only those whose success in college is almost guaranteed. Opening the doors, however, places responsibilities on colleges that are not called for under a highly selective admissions policy. Support services must be provided. Liberal admissions and concomitant support are appropriate for the public sector but open graduation cannot be tolerated. The baccalaureate degree must stand for something more than attendance. Course requirements must continue to be rigorous, a challenge, for all. The less prepared student cannot expect lower standards, but can look forward to help to meet the standards which will give meaning to the degree which he/she seeks."

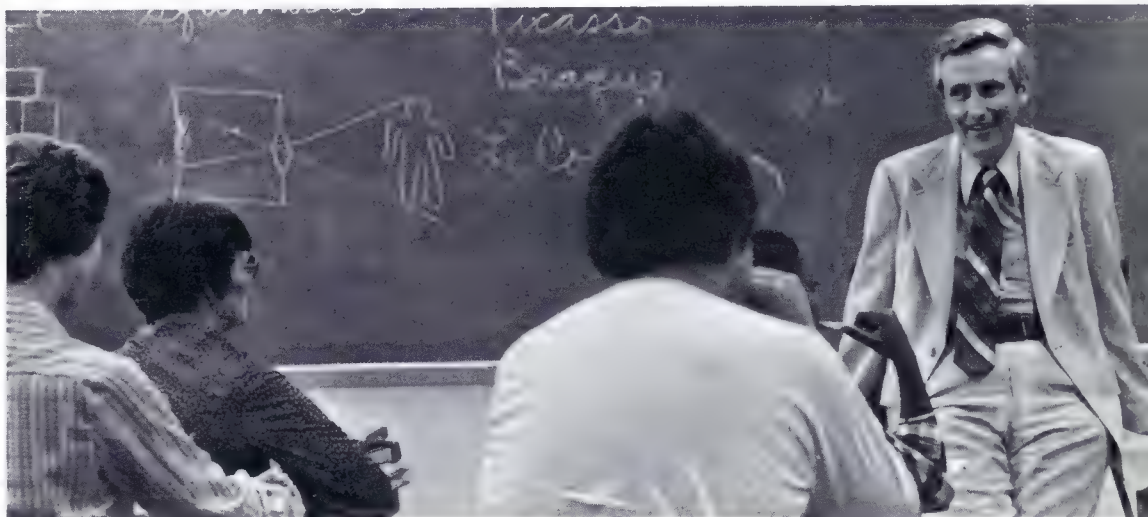

"The value of a liberal arts education is, first of all, you can never take away from a person what he has learned. And that makes for a better person, whether they ever get a job or not."

"The primary role of a college president is leadership . . . exercised both on and off campus."

"Leadership is building support for the college —telling the story of MSSC."

Let CUB Entertain You

Movies for the year included both classics and new films. Students were treated to an outdoor viewing of two "beach" movies, a salute to Duke night featured John Wayne in Stagecoach.

"In Cold Blood", "Repulsion", and the original version "Invasion of the Body Snatchers" highlighted the Halloween Party. There was a comedy night, a Freebie Week all day film festival and a toga party showing "Animal House". Classics included W.C. Field, Charlie Chaplin and Steinbecks "The Grapes of Wrath."

Boogie the Night Away

The C.U.B. sponsored several dances during the year. The dances were well attended and there were several people at the many films. The dances included several discos with music provided by "Mike's Mobile Disco" and Steve Scott. Live music by "Crossfire", was featured at the Christmas dance. The other dances, with music by the D.J.'s, were a street dance, which was moved inside because of the weather; a "Turkey-Trot", with a dance contest; a "Founding Fathers Fling," during February; a Greek Week disco; and a toga party and dance during Freebie Week.

Larry Daniel, Youngest 4th Degree Black Belt

Larry Daniel, youngest fourth degree black belt in the world, appeared here on March 26. A large crowd of about 250 watched Daniel break boards and concrete blocks and various other feats of karate. He used volunteers from the audience to assist him in some of his exhibitions.

One of his many acts included placing a watermelon on a student's stomach; the blindfolded Daniel split it with a sabre, leaving the student untouched. Another feat had Daniel stretched out on his back on a bed of nails with a block on his chest while a student delivered a sledgehammer blow to the block, shattering it.

Daniel holds the world record in breaking, shattering 21 boards and 12 inches of concrete in 8.2 seconds, bettering the previous record of 20 boards and 10 inches in 10 seconds. He has appeared on ABC's Wide World of Sports and the CBS Sports Spectacular. Also, Daniel was a captain of the U.S. Karate team, helped Muhammad Ali train, and has won over 400 karate trophies and over 50 more in track competition.

Bill Monroe "Meets the College"

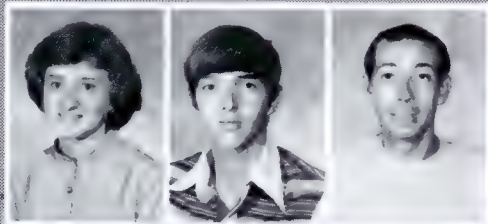

Bill Monroe, award-winning anchorman and executive producer of NBC-TV's Meet the Press, spoke to Missouri Southern State College students and the general public on March 12. His speech centered on the performance of the Carter administration, the 1980 election, and America's future. On the Carter administration, Monroe commented that the President has shown a formidable sense of intellect, a sense of idealism and honesty, a sense of nerve in working with Congress and prudence and restraint while in office. But, Carter has repeatedly shown how inexperienced he is in the workings of Washington, developed few personal contacts, and exaggerated and promised too much on many issues.

In the Presidential contest on the Republican side Monroe said that Ford may be in a position to give Reagan a race. However, starting late will be a weakness. As for the Democrats, Ted Kennedy was relying on the chance that the Presidents popularity was artificial due to the hostages and Afghanistan. So far all Kennedy has succeeded in doing is making Carter look good, Monroe added.

Pool and Prestidigitation

The College Union Board brought several performers to the campus. Among them were a billiard artist and a magician. A large crowd was on hand for both acts.

Jack White dazzled the audience in the Student Center snack bar with pool wizardry and trickery. After defeating the MSSC pool tournament champion, Larry Karst, White gave two performances showing his skill, technique, and humor.

John Fabchance displayed his slight of hand and other baffling illusions. He performed solo tricks and several with one or more volunteers from the snack bar audience.

Southern digs Dizzy

John Birks "Dizz" Gillespie, one of the world's most renowned musicians, appeared in concert in January, sponsored by the College Union Board. Since his beginnings in the Big Band era of the 1940's when his "bebop" music revolutionized the jazz world, Dizzy Gillespie has garnered new fans in every generation. He appears regularly at the major jazz festivals, including Monterey, Montreux, Newport and Newport-New York.

Alumni Share Insights

Southern Alumni returned to campus this fall to let students know what it's like in the professional world. A "Career Opportunity Seminar" sponsored by the Afro American Society, brought together representatives from 18 area businesses and government agencies who visited with students in their respective career areas. The prospective employees received information on job preparation and job hunting, how to prepare for and present a good interview and the range of opportunities available in the field.

Books for the Blind

A unique service for the blind was made available through the Spiva Library. Rob Reeser (shown at left) an accounting, economics and finance major who is blind, was instrumental in starting the program. Reading materials in the form of braille books, records and tapes are being received regularly by the library. Rob and his wife Julie are also donating braille magazines they receive after they finish reading them.

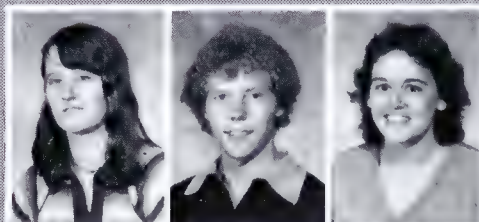

Spiva Library is the only library in the area providing such materials to the blind.

Nurses Pinned in Traditional Ceremony

The Nurses Pinning Ceremony was held May 15 at 7:00 p.m. Twenty-three students received their gold pins designating them as "Graduated Nurses" from Betty Ipock. President Donald C. Darnton and James Maupin, Dean of the School of technology also participated in the ceremonies. A special address was given by K'Alice Breining, RN,MN, Administrative Director of Nursing Services at Freeman Hospital.

"Violence begets violence and is unnecessary"

David Toma, ex-vice, narcotics and gambling detective for the Newark, New Jersey Police Department, spoke to the student body and general public in Taylor Auditorium on March 5. In his speech, Toma stressed that violence is very unnecessary, violence begets violence and accomplishes nothing. In 20 years on the force, Toma never fired his gun in the line of duty.

Toma believes that drug abuse is on the rise and the abusers are getting younger and younger everyday. He feels we have to educate children at the gradeschool level against drug use. "When I go to these gradeschools and high schools around the country it makes me sick. These kids don't even know what they are doing. Little kids in grade school tell me they sit around with their parents and smoke out of the bong (water pipe). One little girl told me that her mother put cocaine on a mirror and let her two year old brother lick it off." Toma pointed out that kids turn to drugs because of lack of leadership, love, and family caring. "What really makes me sick are the people who sit back and do nothing to help these kids who are looking for help from anyone. It's more than a nine to five job. You have to be able to communicate on the same level with the kids." Toma is a very dynamic, down to earth individual who cares what is happening to the future future of the human race.

General Westmoreland

General William Westmoreland was the featured speaker on May 2. In addition to his lecture in Taylor Auditorium, the General joined the members of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity in their annual storming of the Carthage courthouse and spoke at the ROTC Awards Ceremony. Westmoreland in his address to the college and community persons compared our nation to a stool with three legs—the economics leg, the military leg, and the moral leg. "If any leg be weak then the country falters." He talked of the Salt I and Salt II Treaties, both of which he considers to be extremely lacking as far as the U.S. is concerned. His disappointment in military cutbacks was frequently displayed.

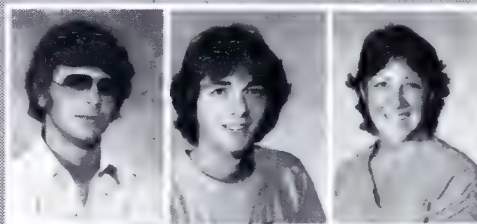

He also discussed Iran, the world situation, and other topics. When asked about his impressions of the rescue mission of the Iranian hostages (Thursday, April 24) Westmoreland commented, "I'm not sure the raid was a good idea in the first place. I'm not sure if the damages and implications to our allies was fully assessed, but it was a noble effort."

When commenting about the world situation he paraphrased a famous statement of Teddy Roosevelt's, "We used to talk softly and carry a big stick. Now we're talking more than we should and the big stick isn't there." Westmoreland feels that the Soviets have pulled ahead of America in conventional warfare capability and the two nations have reached a nuclear-armaments standoff. However, he feels a nuclear war is remote.

In comments on the loosening of the country's moral fibre, he said "You are always hearing about people's rights— gay rights, black rights, equal rights—but how often do you hear about responsibilities. With every right there comes a responsibility," a responsibility to earn the right and not to abuse that right.

The general covered other issues during his lecture. When asked if he thought women should be drafted he responded, "You can answer that question as well as I can. Any man with guts would not want to have women fighting the war." A very popular statement with the audience was his comment, "We should have the President serve six years and put him out for retirement. It is ridiculous to have a man running for the office while he is trying to serve as president."

Debate: Gay Rights

On September 14 Taylor Auditorium became the battleground for the pros and cons of being gay. The debate, sponsored by the College Union Board, between Dr. Bruce Voeller and Mike Thompson drew a crowd of close to 400 students and members of the community.

Dr. Voeller is a leader in the gay civil rights movement while Mr. Thompson is involved in the Florida Republican Party, the Florida Conservative Union and Anita Bryant's "Save Our Children" campaign.

The debate was actually a series of short debates on issues such as "Why Gay Rights?", "Are Homosexuals a Threat to the Family?", "Teachers, Homosexuality and Education", and "Is it Natural to be Gay?" Kinsey report data was frequently mentioned and refuted by both Voeller and Thompson. One issue which was never fully clarified in spite of its discussion throughout the debate was the choice to be or not to be gay.

Economic Lecture

Banker is first speaker

Another VIP visited our campus as the first speaker of the business and economic lecture series inaugurated this year by the Missouri Southern Foundation April 8. Albert E. Burger, Assistant Vice-President of the Federal Reserve Bank in St. Louis, spoke in two lectures on "Inflation and Federal Reserve Policy: Past, Present and Future." His speech dealt with the Fed, OPEC, and high interest rates in conjunction with inflation. He also discussed Fed policy and its influences on the financial markets.

Mr. Burger, as assistant vice president, is responsible for coordination of current analysis of monetary, financial, and international developments, including overseeing the preparation of the St. Louis bank's publications. Burger, besides authoring many articles in professional journals and his own book on the money supply, is adjunct professor at St. Louis University.

Stegge Retiring After 29 Years

A familiar face around Billingsly Student Center retired in June after 29 years of service to the college. Dudley Stegge was hired in 1951 and held various position here. In addition to director of Billingsly Student Center he was football coach, athletic director, dean of students and dean of men.

Stegge saw the growth of the college from Joplin Junior College to Missouri Southern State College. He was proud of the college and proud to be part of it.

Mr. Stegge served the college in whatever capacity was needed and even after his retirement Mr. Stegge will always be a part of Missouri Southern State College.

Upon his retirement Mr. Stegge was presented a money tree designed by Charlie Moss, manager of the college bookstore.

Student Center Dedicated

Several hundred people gathered on campus November 2 for the dedication of the newly enlarged college union as the Leon C. Billingsly Student Center. Dedication ceremonies were held in the third floor rotunda of the new wing. Presidents from other colleges in the state were invited as well as dignitaries from the state legislature and Department of Higher Education with whom Dr. Billingsly had worked during his years at the college.

Featured speakers were Judge Robert P. Warden, Senator Richard Webster, and Representative Robert E. Young. A reception was held in the second floor lounge area following the ceremonies.

The comfortably furnished lounge will provide a hospitable setting for students relaxing between classes, as well as for informal gatherings for campus and community people. The newly decorated dining room (old A & B) and additional conference rooms have also been used extensively.

Nature Is Teacher

Not all Southern students took a spring break this year. The students in one general biology class were participating in a unique laboratory session—a campout at Roaring River State Park near Cassville. The class was designed for the non-science major to fill the general education requirement for the biological sciences.

The course concentrated the semester's lab work into a week long campout with ecology and the environment as the main emphasis. As far as is known, Southern is the first college in the state to offer a field trip laboratory in a general freshman science class. The outdoor lab presented a variety of experiences with nature for the students. The students camped out for five days at the state park in camping gear ranging from one person pup tents to sophisticated motor homes.

The students were encouraged to keep careful notes of their observations and reactions and to experiment with each of their senses. One student commented that "other classes can't show us in books what we can see or touch." "I learned far more than I would have spending 2 or 3 hours a week in a lab. It was a great experience," commented one student.

"Being there—studying the plants and soils and rocks in the natural environment—I'll remember much more of what I learned" remarked another student. The feeling of most, if not all the students, was that retention of what they had learned would be far greater as a result of the direct environmental experience they had.

College Union Board staged the most successful Freebie Week ever, climaxed by a midweek picnic at the shelter by the biology pond. Skydivers dropped out of a perfect blue sky, trailing brilliantly colored smoke, mimes entertained the crowd in silence while Southern Fried poured out their brand of rock music. Barbequed chicken with all the trimmings, balloons, snowcones filled up the crowd as they wandered over the field of mansion hill.

Other features of the week included the annual fun run, folk and country concerts, Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra, film festival and a showing of Animal House complete with toga party.

Bahamas Beckons Biomes

Biology students and others interested in marine life worked in the sun and sea at Andros Island during the annual biomes trip in late May. After a semester of scuba diving lessons and studying the flora and fauna of the tropics, the students set out to find the species they had researched. Teams of researchers pursued a range of projects analyzing the coral reefs and the myriad forms of life they support, as well as cataloging the species of birds, reptiles and plant life found on Andros and the adjoining small islands. Forfar Research Center was their home for a week as each research team shared the day's findings with the group.

Interest and enthusiasm for the success of the trip were so high that sponsor Jim Jackson sees the possibility of developing a course in marine biology in the future.

Matthews Hall Completed

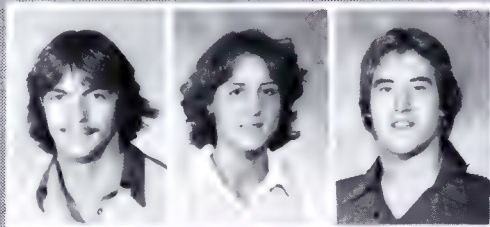

The new 1.3 million dollar Norvall M. Matthews Hall was completed last fall as phase 1 of a long range two-phase project of the Technology Division.

The first floor encompasses a complete general Industrial Arts Laboratory for woods, plastics, metals, finishing and welding.

Computer Science moved from its quarters in Kuhn Hall to the second floor of the new building, providing more space for a program that not only handles enrollment, grades, accounting and other functions of the college business, but also has computerized programs of many other schools in the area. The computer center is now operating 24 hours a day.

The Secretarial Science department is housed on the third floor providing the most sophisticated, up-to-date equipment, including word processing machines, offset presses, and other new duplicating equipment.

A shorthand laboratory features a wireless master terminal which can dictate to the individual secretarial units materials at many different speeds, allowing the students to continually test and increase their speed and skills.

Merrill's Appearance Timely

John P. Merrill, director of policy research for the U.S. Department of Defense, spoke here on April 25. He spoke mostly about the Soviet threat to U. S. security, but he touched lightly on the attempted rescue of the hostages in Iran. The attempt came late Thursday night the evening before his appearance here.

Merrill would not discuss in detail the rescue mission because disclosure of the information could "jeopardize national security." The mission was undertaken because of increasing concern for the safety of the hostages, due to border clashes between Iran and Iraq as well as increasing internal unrest in Iran, according to Merrill.

"The Soviets pose the most significant challenge to U. S. security," Merrill said. "The United States, fortunately, is by most measures the strongest nation in the world," he stated. In nuclear measures, the U.S. and Russia are about equal. To deter nuclear war is the most fundamental defense and to do this could lead to war, for which the U.S. must be ready. The Soviets are building up military strength, he pointed out, and are aiming toward "global challenge" and the U.S. must respond to that challenge. The United States must have adequate military capability and the will to use it if necessary, he said.

IN MEMORIAM

Delbert Johnson, who died in January, was director of the Lion Pride Band since its formation in 1967. His energetic dedication built the band into a fine musical organization which represented the college in events all over the area. His work also took the Pride to our games in Las Vegas and to the winter carnival in Minneapolis-St. Paul.

ADRIAN L. MEACHAM, director of Security for the college since 1975, died June 27. As a former Joplin Police Chief and member of the Joplin force for 20 years he was highly respected among law enforcement personnel in the area. His integrity and sense of humor earned him the same respect and friendship among college students and faculty.

1980 Commencement

Outstanding Teachers Named

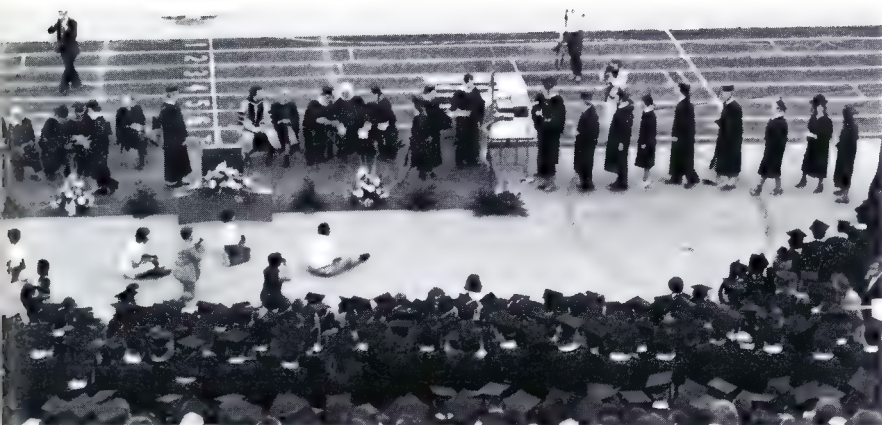

Grace C. Mitchell and J. Larry Martin were named the first recipients of the college's outstanding teaching awards at commencement. Mrs. Mitchell, assistant professor of English, was named "Outstanding Teacher of a Freshman Class", while Martin, professor of mathematics, received the "Outstanding Teacher Award."

Both received checks for $1,000 and an award plaque from the Missouri Southern Foundation which initiated the awards.

Mrs. Mitchell, who began teaching at Southern in 1958, was cited for her excellence and dedication in teaching English composition 101, a general education requirement in basic writing skills. She was praised for her devotion to her profession and to her students, and for her "exceptionally wide and lively intellectual interests which enable her to stimulate her students' interests."

Larry Martin, has taught all levels of math courses and was praised by students as a "friendly, understanding and patient teacher who seems sincerely interested in each student's achievement." Recommendations for the award noted that Martin motivated his students to want to learn what he had to teach and that he gave them confidence to learn more than they thought possible.

Approximately 359 degrees were awarded in commencement exercises May 16. Eighty-six students graduated with honors. The ceremonies were held at 7:00 pm in Hughes Stadium and Robert H. Duesenberg, Chairman of the State Coordinating Board for Higher Education, was commencement speaker. Robert A. Harris, Assistant Professor of Music, provided organ music for the processional and recessional. The invocation and benediction was given by James A. Layman, pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Joplin. President Darnton acknowledged the contributions the graduates' families had made to their attaining this milestone and asked the parents, spouses, children and grandparents each to stand in a group and be recognized. It was a special moment in the evening celebration.

Lions Honored

At the close of football season the Lions honored members of their teams:

Outstanding Defensive Back, John Wynne
Outstanding Defensive Lineman, Marty O'Brien
Outstanding Linebacker, Charles Collins
Outstanding Offensive Back, Fred Ford
Outstanding Offensive Lineman, Jesse Valverka
Outstanding Receiver, Brent Cook
Most Improved, Terrance Bryant
Hustle Award, Ron Harris
Rookie of the Year, Mike Medlin
Spradling Memorial Award honoring outstanding senior performer, Brent Cook
Larry Hickey Award and 1979 Most Valuable Player Award, Fred Ford

Ford rushes for 567 yards.

Fred Ford dazzled the crowd with swift speed and swivel hip ability. Fred's speed gained him 567 yards and M.V.P. award.

Medlin Rookie of the Year

BASKETBALL

It was a disappointing season from a won-loss standpoint, but the 1979-80 basketball season had some bright spots. A prime example of their tenacity came in our final game of the year at Emporia State. We were down two points with one second left in the first overtime and had the ball out of bounds under our defensive goal. "We executed a play perfectly, drew a foul and Randy Goughnour made both free throws to send the game into a second overtime. We eventually won, 94-88, to end our season on a positive note.

The Lions fought a battle against lady luck when they played Southwest Baptist College. The lions were winning by one point with two seconds to go when a Southwest Baptist College player slung the ball through the hoop at half court to defeat the Lions 62 to 61.

Who says Lions don't fly? Cager Paul Merrifield exemplifies the height a Lion on the move can get.

Rifle Team First in Nation

Southern's Shooting Team captured top honors in the National Championship Pershing Rifle Team competition setting the highest shooting record of over 100 pershing rifle teams across the country.

In addition to team honors, two members were ranked as the top two shooters out of approximately 800 to 1,000 participants nationwide. Kevin Cornell (right) a senior from Joplin, was named the number one shooter in the country, and Mark Brown (left) a Joplin freshman, was ranked number two.

The National PR championship was the final bullseye of the year for the Southern shooters.

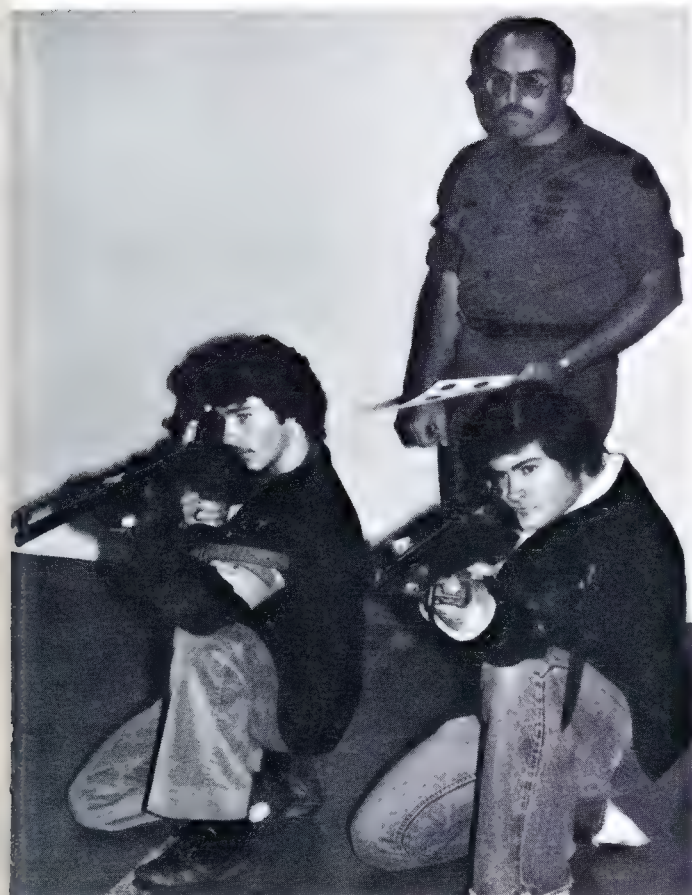

Trained by Sgt. Michael Rogers, instructor of military science, the team was on target all year, taking a total of eight first place awards including two state and one national championship and six second place honors. Rogers coached the team since January 1977, building an impressive record during the 3½ years of nine first place team finishes, ten seconds and two thirds.

All five members of the team have won trophies for individual events. Kevin Cornell, the only senior on the team, has garnered seven first place trophies, and won fifth place or better for five other awards.

The Southern shooters, with their impressive state and national awards, were the winningest varsity team at Southern this year.

Lady Lion Basketball

Missouri Southern wound up the 1979-80 basketball campaign with a 15-16 record and tied for third place in the CSIC. G.I. Willoughby's Lady Lions were picked to finish second in a pre-season poll of conference coaches.

Southern did score 2159 points to the 2077 scored by the opposition. This was a 69.6 per game average for Southern to a 67.0 average for opponents.

Four Lady Lions will be lost to graduation: Cherie Kuklantz, Nancy Robertson, Patty Vavra and Lisa Gardner. Kuklantz, Robertson, and Gardner saw action in all 31 games this past season while Vavra missed only one contest.

Lions On the Move

Soccer Team A Winner

Finishing the season with an outstanding winning record of 16-3-1 Lion Soccer led the National Association Intercollegiate Athletics as the most victorious team of all member schools. The Kickers scored more goals than ever before in one season (56), allowed the fewest goals in one season (10), had the fewest losses in one season with only three, and shutout 14 teams in the course of the season.

At the conclusion of the season the Lions were ranked 15th in the nation out of the 220 NAIA soccer teams. Other NAIA honors included having the number two defensive team in the nation with only a 0.38 average of goals being scored against them per game. Of course much of the credit must be placed upon juniors goalie George Major who was also the number two goalie in the NAIA with the same average per game.

Major also received an Honorable Mention with senior Ron Behnen on the NSCAA All-American team. Major was named the Most Inspirational player on the team and Behnen shared honors with senior Rick Ruzicka for the Most Valuable Player.

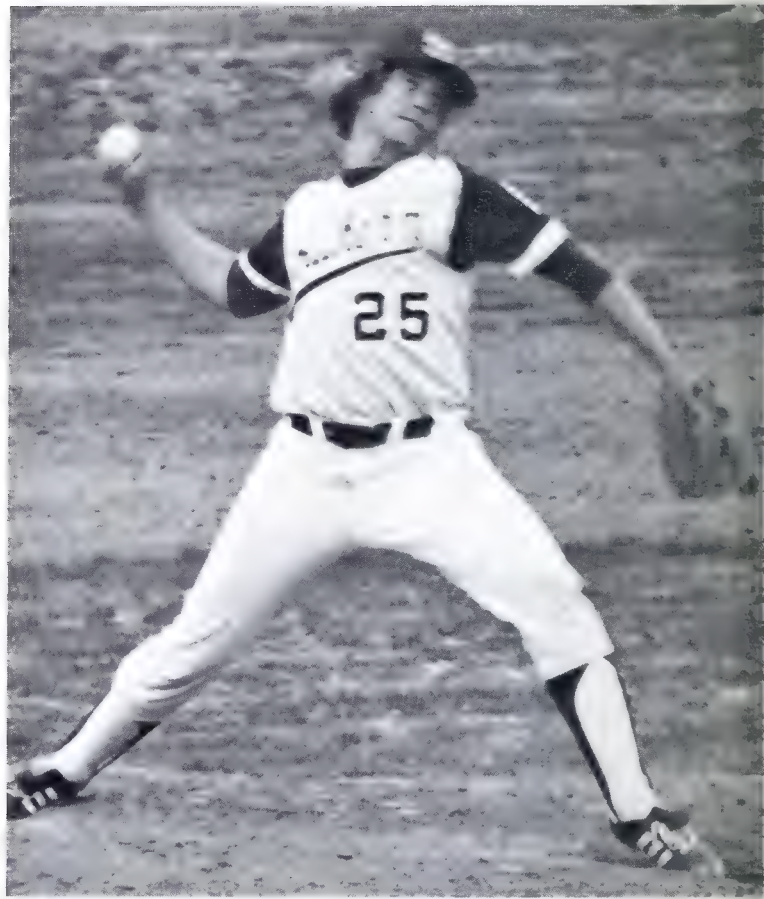

Sophomore Alberto Escobar and Ruzicka both led the Lions in scoring with eight goals each. Escobar was named as the player who showed the best sportsmanship.

Behind every winning team is a winning coach and Hal Bodon has exemplified that quality by being chosen the NAIA District 16 Coach of the Year.

Baseball

The baseball team of Warren Turner had an even season of 30 wins and 30 losses and are looking for a strong showing next year.
